

ast right from the mortal realm.
Save the people lashed with hate.
A conduit must take the helm.
Smite the dark to liberate.

Brane the Celestial, devoted to a life of solitude studying the stars. His reverence gained the attention of the Cosmos who blessed him with the power to conjure magic from the stars. Brane forged offspring from constellations, who could worship the Cosmos long after his death.

Healing and Range

Saviah, forsaken by her clan for her ungovernable behavior. She relied on her marksmanship and quick wit to survive. Her reputation as a creator of chaos brought droves of loyal followers. Known as the Savians, they gained infamy for their plundering and expert ranged combat.

Speed and Range

King Ivo, forged from the river. Upon the death of the King Before, villagers offered gold and precious heirlooms to the river, each with a wish for their King's successor. Nine days later, a baby was discovered wailing in the shallow of the water.

Healing and Strength

Abelus the Brave, borne from a lineage of remarkable knights and swordsmen. He carries a grave secret in his scabbard. The sword passed down the family line is imbued with divine powers that overcome its holder. Without his sword, Abelus is woefully inept.
